Kennedy Meets Press Tonight

Act Sets Precedent

By Marvin L. Arrowsmith
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy tonight holds his first news conference since taking office. It will be a precedent-setting session on live television and radio.

The U.S. Information Agency will provide special worldwide coverage, broadcasting recordings of the conference to reach peak listening hours overseas.

The new President's question and answer meeting with newsmen will be carried nationwide on all major U.S. networks starting at 6 p.m. EST, (5 p.m. Central Time.)

How long the conference lasts will be determined, the White House has said, in the traditional manner—by the senior wire service reporter when he decides it's time to end the session.

Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, said the networks have indicated they intend to broadcast the entire conference this first time, no matter how long it lasts.

Newsmen are certain to seek the views of Kennedy, sworn into office only last Friday, on a wide variety of problems confronting the new administration.

They include dealing with the Communist threat to the free world, the business slump at home, mounting unemployment, the disturbing flow of gold out of the United States, expected revision of the Eisenhower regime's spending plans and enactment by Congress of legislative proposals.

S.A. Montgomery, Standard Oil Director, Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—S.A. Montgomery, 64, a Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) vice president and director, died Tuesday in Presbyterian St. Luke's hospital after a short illness.

The cause of death was not disclosed.

Montgomery was born in Osborn, Miss., and graduated from Mississippi State College. He joined Standard in 1919 as a chemist at its Wood River, Ill., refinery.

He rose to posts of manager of that works, manager of the Whiting, Ind., refinery in 1942 and as assistant general manager of the manufacturing department in the company's general office in Chicago in 1946.

He has been a vice president in charge of manufacturing, research and purchasing since 1956.

Surviving are his widow, Elizabeth, and sisters, Louise and Betty, both of Wood River.

PROBE ATLAS FAILURES

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Air Force technicians today studied telemetry data in the hope of pinpointing the reason for the third straight failure of an improved Atlas intercontinental range missile.

Expect JFK To Give Somber Recital Of U.S. World Affairs

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy was reported today to be preparing a somber recital of world and domestic conditions in a State of the Union message he will deliver to Congress Monday.

Associates said the President feels Congress and the country should be given what he regards as a realistic appraisal of turbulent global conditions and a hesitating economy at home.

CAT'S OUT OF BAG AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House had another new resident today—a cat of undetermined age and dubious background.

The latest addition to the executive mansion was introduced to the press Tuesday.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger, badgered for more news at his press conference, finally let the cat out of the bag by declaring that "one Kitten" had moved in.

Newsmen were not satisfied with just the facts: Tom is the pet of the Kennedy's daughter, Caroline, 3; he is gray with yellow eyes, of the alley variety and has been living at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, Mrs. Kennedy's step-father and mother, in nearby McLean, Va.

Then Pamela Turnure, Mrs. Kennedy's press secretary, turned up with the cat. They were surrounded quickly by photographers.

The Kennedys have another pet, a Welsh terrier named Charlie, who has not moved into the White House.

Also still to move in are Caroline and her baby brother, John Jr., who are in Palm Beach, Fla.

The popular early American flintlock called the "Kentucky Rifle" actually was developed in what is now the state of Pennsylvania.

Two satellites into orbit and then hooking them together while they are whirling through space at 18,000 miles an hour.

If the Lockheed study indicates that the experiment is technically possible, then NASA will give it a try, using the Thor-Agena B and the Atlas-Agena-B missile and satellite combinations.

NASA said there was no timetable for such an experiment. It will depend on the Lockheed study and the availability of funds.

If the experiment is successful, a NASA spokesman said, huge space ships also could be boosted into orbit in sections and then assembled for use in deep space probes.

Everything works out as NASA hopes, a series of inns for space explorers, or tourists, ultimately could be assembled in an ever-expanding series of concentric orbits around the earth.

Nation Still Shivers In Sub-Zero Weather

INNOVATIONS IN NEWS CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON (AP)—There will be innovations at President Kennedy's news conference tonight. It will be held in the spacious auditorium of the new State Department building, about a mile from the White House. This is a move from the ornate Indian Treaty Room on the fourth floor of the executive office building across from the White House.

President Harry S. Truman switched the conferences there from his White House office in the late 1940s. Franklin D. Roosevelt's also were held in that office.

Still another Kennedy regime change is a request that reporters refrain from identifying themselves.

Truman started the identification practice. The radio and TV networks have urged that it be continued but press secretary Pierre Salinger has gone along with a group of newsmen who have contended that some reporters—or their organizations—are seeking self-serving publicity.

The primary reason for the move to the State Department auditorium is that it has greater seating capacity and provides more room for TV and radio facilities.

Maximum attendance at President Eisenhower news conferences was 311 newsmen on two occasions, and the room was jammed. In the State Department auditorium a big bloc of seats two-thirds of the way back has been removed for cameras, leaving 398 seats in front of this section and about 225 behind it.

In International Falls, on the Minnesota-Canadian border, it was -25 this morning compared to -32 Tuesday.

Strong northerly winds swept the icy air into the south central and southeast sections during the night.

The mercury plunged to near zero in Plainview, Tex., on the south Plains, which was hit by a heavy snowstorm Tuesday. Sleet, rain, snow and freezing drizzle pelled many sections of Texas during the night.

Rules Key Clubs May Operate If Not Misleading

CHICAGO (AP)—A Superior Court judge has ruled key clubs may charge fees, call themselves "clubs" and issue keys—but must not convey the impression they are private clubs.

The decision of Judge Samuel B. Epstein Tuesday was termed a substantial victory by both the City of Chicago and Walton Playboys Clubs, Inc. The club asked a judgment declaring its operations are legal and restraining police from interfering.

Epstein said the ruling was the first of its kind in the United States.

He held the club violates no laws by using the word "club" as part of its name or in advertising. Numerous public taverns do that, he said.

The club also has a right to charge a $50 lifetime fee, for which a key is issued as a symbol of membership, as long as it does not discriminate in regard to race, color or religious creed.

The key symbol distinguishes the club from an ordinary tavern. The key is not needed for the doors, which will be open to all at all times, but it will be needed to obtain service. It identifies its holder as one who has paid the lifetime fee.

But the word "club," Epstein ruled, cannot be used in combination with designation of its patrons as "members." And the club must discontinue calling the initial fee a "membership fee," he said, and cannot make references to "by-laws, rules or regulations." This is misleading, he said, and in violation of Chicago false advertising ordinances.

Epstein rejected the city's contention that the admission key obstructs police surveillance. Identification will admit policemen without a fee, he said.

Charge Burglary By Man Assigned To Mansion Duty

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A state policeman assigned to the governor's mansion has been charged with burglary and suspended from the force in connection with the theft of $195 from a gas station.

Trooper James Aiello, 27, and Frank Strohle Jr., 20, both of Springfield, were charged with the Dec. 31 theft Tuesday and released after each posted $2,500 bond.

State's Atty. Raymond Terrell said the case will be presented to a Sangamon County grand jury Thursday if the investigation proceeds as planned.

Robert Heckenkamp, attorney for Aiello, said the trooper took a lie test Jan. 18 and was questioned by his superiors then. "He denies any guilt or participation," Heckenkamp said.

Aiello, a state trooper for 3 1/2 years, had been assigned to the executive mansion security detail since last September. He also served as a mansion guard for two years beginning in December 1957.

Strohle is a former employee of the gas station, which is located on the Springfield bypass.

Aiello was suspended from the force a week ago and charges will be brought against him with the State Police merit board, State Police Supt. William Morris said.

The station is owned by the wife of State Police Maj. John Stupper and is operated by his son.

Super, who led the investigation, said authorities knew the theft was an inside job.

Ike Relaxes, Forgets Cares Of Presidency

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—A relaxed and buoyantly happy Dwight D. Eisenhower is having the time of his life today, forgetting the cares and problems of eight years in the presidency.

After nine hours in the hunting fields of the sprawling Blue Springs plantation Tuesday, the former president said: "Oh, it was just lovely."

He wasn't entirely satisfied with his performance—"I was shooting a little bit too low for a while"—but he came back with a full bag of quail.

Guest of honor at an elaborate two-hour picnic lunch under the trees deep within the isolated 15,000-acre plantation, he circulated among the 55 guests, laughing, joking and talking on topics ranging from Khrushchev to quail hash.

A longtime friend, George B. Allen, said, "I have never seen him as completely relaxed."

"Neither have I," agreed William E. Robinson, another old friend.

Allen, a Gettysburg, Pa., neighbor, accompanied Eisenhower here for a week's hunting on the plantation owned by W. Alton Jones. Robinson is a Coca-Cola Co. executive.

At the luncheon—including charcoal broiled quail—the former president turned serious for a moment in discussing Soviet Premier Khrushchev's seeming willingness to better U. S. Soviet relations.

'We Will Not Surrender—'

Pirate Chief Warns Not To Attack Ship

NEW YORK (AP)—The leader of Portuguese dissidents who seized the cruise liner Santa Maria radioed to the Columbia Broadcasting System today that the vessel would not be surrendered to either Portuguese or foreign ships.

"If we are followed by Portuguese or foreign ships we will not surrender, nor will we stop," said the message from Henrique Galvao.

"We place responsibility of attackers, whoever attacks, against the ship."

The latter assertion evidently meant that anyone seeking to interfere with the vessel would be held responsible for the deed.

Several American and British craft are pursuing the Santa Maria.

A U.S. Navy spokesman in Puerto Rico said American craft had orders to stop and search the liner only if they apprehend her on the high seas.

A Portuguese vessel has put to sea from Lisbon in an effort to intercept the Santa Maria, and parts of the Portuguese navy have been ordered on a standby basis.

In his message to CBS, Galvao also said passengers shortly would be put ashore at a neutral port.

The message seemed to indicate, also, that those who seized the vessel also might disembark, but this was not clear. This was the way CBS translated the Portuguese wording of the radio-gram.

"American passengers, as well as all the others, understand perfectly the legitimacy of our struggle for liberty by the most enthusiastic forces at my command."

"We will shortly find a neutral port where we will disembark with safety for them, for us and for our ship."

May Be Captive Liner

By JUAN PETT

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—U.S. Navy planes closed in today on the reported position of a mystery ship in tropical Atlantic waters and Portuguese authorities said the captive liner Santa Maria has been located.

American confirmation of this was lacking, with Navy men saying they will not consider the Santa Maria located until it has been sighted and identified.

But the Portuguese seemed convinced that the vessel trailed by monitoring of its radio is the Santa Maria. Rear Adm. Sarmiento Rodrigues declared in Lisbon the liner "will be sighted within a few hours."

The Portuguese frigate Pedro Escobar put to sea and a standby order went out to all Portuguese naval commands in the West African colony of Angola, the Azores, the Cape Verde Islands and Mozambique—all areas controlled from Lisbon.

The 20,906-ton liner was seized Sunday by enemies of the Salazar regime in Portugal. At the time the vessel was between Venezuela and Florida, on a course to set some of its 600 passengers ashore at Port Everglades, Fla., Tuesday.

Four twin-engine Neptunes of the U.S. Navy circled over a 40-mile radius centered 400 miles east of Guadeloupe, a French possession in the Leeward Islands. They were following a radio fix, a method by which monitoring stations compare notes to determine the location of a transmitter through triangulation.

Portugal's navy gave approximately the same position. They said the Santa Maria was located 350 miles east of the Windward Islands, southern neighbors of the Leewards.

The Santa Maria, with Henrique Galvao's hijackers in command, paused Monday off St. Lucia, one of the Windwards, and sent ashore eight crewmen, including one wounded severely by gunshot in the battle for the ship.

Messages from the Santa Maria this morning, handled in an exchange with an RCA station at Chatham, Mass., were "All well—don't worry" assurances from passengers to their homefolks.

A Navy spokesman at San Juan headquarters directing the search for the Portuguese liner said a radio fix had been obtained on a ship 500 miles southeast of Barbados that "might be the Santa Maria."

A check of that area proved fruitless.

At dawn the hunt moved north. The Neptunes, long-range reconnaissance planes, were recon-

Navy planes headed for the area immediately.

More Food For Needy May Firm Farm Market

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Action of the Kennedy administration in adding canned pork and dried eggs to the list of foods the government donates to the needy is expected to give some new strength to markets for meat animals and poultry products.

While officials have not announced the amounts of these two items which will be given the needy, it could provide an added market for upwards of $12 million a month for pork alone. No estimate was available for the possible outlay for eggs.

Assuming each needy person were given one 29-ounce can of pork weekly, the poundage required for the present 35 million eligible needy would be close to 7 million pounds. The cost would be around 42 cents a pound or nearly $3 million a week. The government has not yet announced the weekly allowance.

In the past, government purchases of meat products have been limited largely to periods when livestock prices were depressed. Such purchases served to bolster markets by siphoning off a part of the meat supply.

There is no particular need, however, for bolstering livestock markets.

Hog prices to producers in mid-December averaged $18.20 a hundred pounds compared with $11.30 a year earlier. However, they were considered below the parity price goal of farm programs — $21.30.

To the extent the pork donation program affects prices, it can be expected to encourage a further increase in hog production during the fall season.

Expect More Bean Planting
WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal farm officials expect a sizable increase this year in plantings of soybeans because of favorable prices being paid for the 1960 crop.

The Agricultural Marketing Service reported today that prices of the 1960 crop in October-December averaged 11 cents above the government support rate of $1.85 a bushel. Prices moved up even more this month. The service said prices to growers are expected to make more than the usual 15 cents a bushel seasonal increase before the new crop harvest.

More Feeder Cattle
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today the shipments of feeder and stocker cattle into eight north central feeding states in December totaled 541,000 head compared with 540,000 a year earlier.

Increases were reported for Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and South Dakota and decreases for Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota and Nebraska.

Drama Of Democracy

Whether it happens in four years or eight or 20, there is something unfailingly stirring about the transfer of government from one party to another. It is the living, breathing proof of the sanity, indeed the wisdom of democracy.

All around the globe men still are seeking to win their goals by violent means. They can find in our presidential inauguration a memorable example of the rule of law and order, if they will only pause long enough to look.

The example is particularly forceful at a moment in history when even peoples who live under parliamentary democracies are resorting to violence in an effort to gain their ends.

The essence of democracy, of course, is that the people have a choice, and that—once it is expressed—it be accepted by everyone. In too many places, the losers have not been willing to abide by this fundamental of free government. They have used riot and destruction to try to overturn peacefully taken decisions.

Violence manifestly is the first resort of tyranny. It should be the last resort of a free people, employed only when their government has become so twisted and warped as to be in fact no longer free.

Happily, Americans still understand the vital importance of this key-stone in the democratic system. And their gracious acceptance of the majority verdict was put to the supreme test this time, since Kennedy won by a slender 112,000 votes out of some 69 million cast.

The ceremony of the inaugural is basically simple. Yet it has about it the grandeur that must attach inevitably to this remarkable act of transferring great national power in a peaceful, orderly way.

The drama is heightened in 1961 by the fact that the outgoing President Eisenhower handed the reins to a man who was just finishing college as he was about to take command of Allied forces in World War II. Eisenhower is 70 and Kennedy 43.

As we prize each chapter in the constantly unfolding and renewing story of democracy at work, we must pray that it is a story all the world can read—and that it has no ending.

Don't Look Behind You...

Science has caught up with another favorite subject of science-fiction writers—a machine has "built" a machine. Well, the first didn't actually build the second, but it designed it and told humans how to put it together.

Western Electric Co. scientists in Burlington, N.C., first told a general computer, by using a series of equations, what they wanted in the way of a missile tracking computer. They then waited for instructions. The result is the first computer completely designed by another.

Closing In

A gimmick much used in stories and movies—as well as in real life—may be coming to an end. That is the absence of an extradition treaty between the United States and Brazil since 1913, whereby Brazil became a haven for wanted American criminals.

A proposed treaty covering 33 specific crimes will go into effect as soon as it is ratified by the legislatures of both countries.

Plus Value

Not only a new frontier but a new look we have because of the Kennedy administration. At least, that's the opinion of Marilyn Watson, president of the Mannequins Assn. There's a new swing by men toward the "positive look," she says, typified by President Kennedy.

What is the positive look? "(It) combines elements of Ivy League, all-American, Madison Avenue and a dash of good old-fashioned American pioneer."

Boyle's Master-Plan For Piracy Winds Up With South Sea Harem

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Every red-blooded American boy at one time dreams of being a big bold pirate. So, in our opinion, does every red-blooded middle-aged American man.

The seizure in the Caribbean this week of the Portuguese luxury liner Santa Maria by 70 passengers and crew of Portuguese Premier Salazar started the world.

It held special interest to students of pirate lore because it took place in the same waters once roamed by Blackbeard, perhaps the most villainous freebooter of them all.

But, on closer examination of this rebellion at sea, we must admit to a feeling of personal let-down. After all, it was a political act, done by a group for a political purpose. It holds none of the high adventure promised by our own fondest daydream—which is to hold up the giant Cunard liner Queen Mary single-handed with a carved wooden gun. (We insist on a wooden gun as the sight of blood makes us faint, particularly if it is our own.)

Over the years we've met dozens of other people who yearned to rob the Queen Mary, but most of them are lazy.

They haven't taken the trouble to think up a foolproof plan. We have. Here it is:

We board the great liner as a passenger and when it reaches a certain point at sea we surprise the captain in his cabin with our trusty little wooden gun and hold him hostage.

Then we have the captain summon all his officers to the cabin and lock them in. Next, we ax all the radio equipment so no alarm can be spread.

It is now time to rifle the ship's strong box, and we figure it ought to hold three—maybe five—million bucks.

Later, we are lowered into a launch, holding the captain as hostage, and speed to the horizon where a hidden submarine awaits us. We board the submarine, and leave the captain free to return to his ship in his launch.

The submarine sails off to a remote South Seas island, where we found a dynasty, build a palace, and live happily and wealthily ever after with a harem of 45 native girls.

There is only one reason this daydream has never come true. Our wife refuses to lend us the money to rent a used submarine. Every time we ask her, she says: "No, I won't. What in heaven's name do you want to hire a submarine for?"

Think we could tell her the truth? Of course not. She'd blab it all over the community by nightfall, and then half our neighbors would want to get into the act—and share the loot.

That won't do. Either we're going to pull this job single-handed—or we're not going to do it at all.

Doorman at the Plushiest Hotel in the World

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Paul Lukas is again working in Hollywood after a lengthy absence, but his Oscar didn't make the trip. It stayed home in Tangier.

Tangier? Yes, that's right. The Moroccan port now is home base for the veteran actor, who has become a bit of a wanderer, not to mention a philosopher. He has returned to these shores to play in "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," his first film here since "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" in 1954.

Since the Disney film, he has been all over. To the Broadway stage for a hit ("Call Me Madam") and a miss ("Flight to Egypt"). To South America. To Europe and return by slow freight.

Lately he has been living on the sunny coast of Spain, more recently in Tangier. Why that fabled city?

"Because I have been there many times in recent years and have many friends," he explained. "Because they have the most beautiful beach in the world, so smooth that they hold soccer games on it. Because I am, unfortunately, not a very rich man, and the living is cheap there."

"But I do not think I will stay much longer. Tangier has changed. Since it is no longer a free port, it does not have the attraction for tourists. I will probably go back to my villa in Spain."

When came this wanderlust? It happened after his divorce a few years ago.

"After all, what is there for me?" he asked. "All I need is have food to eat, books to read, friends to enjoy and new places to see. This business of keeping up a home in Hollywood and going to parties; I had it for 30 years."

Lukas is slight of build but retains his suave looks and charm. He works as much as he wants to—a picture a year, a little television—and spends the rest of the time with books, travel and the good life. Despite his wanderings, he holds fast to his American citizenship.

The actor's Oscar came for "Watch on the Rhine," in which he played an anti-Nazi.

Children Are Losers When Mothers Work as Escape

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Commenting on a recent column that urged obedience as an important safety factor in the prevention of childhood accidents, a very wise high school girl asks the following question:

"Do you think it's worthwhile for a mother to go to work and leave her children with a baby sitter when the money she earns is just about enough to pay the extra expenses that she would not have if she stayed at home?"

"I baby sit four days a week with two children aged 7 and 4 years," she explains. "Their mother, who goes to work, told me she wanted them to mind and even be spanked if necessary. However the parents rarely spank."

"They tell the children to do a thing but never see that it's done. As a result, the children do not pay attention."

"The mother admits it is easier, when she has time off, to give in to the children rather than to make them mind."

"The younger used temper tantrums to get his way until I cured him. Since the mother really doesn't increase the family income, if all expenses are considered, don't you think she might do better to stay home and give the children the companionship and discipline they need?"

I do not for a moment cast reflection on many brave mothers who must supplement the family income for current expenses or their children's higher education. However I must say that I have known altogether too many instances in which younger mothers, in particular, take jobs merely to escape what they consider the drudgery of housekeeping and child care.

As my prematurely wise young correspondent has suggested, the family income is not significantly benefited if additional expenses are deducted from the take-home pay check. For example, one must deduct such things as the salary of the baby sitter, transportation to and from work, meals and snacks eaten outside of the home, and the additional costs that go for clothes, cosmetics and other trimmings.

In my experience, most mothers who use outside work as an excuse to escape from maternal obligations and domestic duties suffer from shortsightedness.

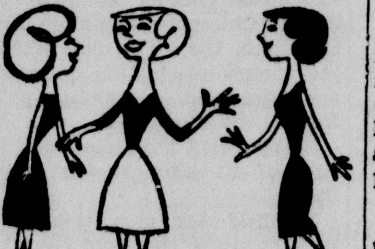

Some, who married in their teens, seek the freedom and experiences they renounced when they went from high school to the altar. Others, however vigorously they may deny it, work for pin money to blow on nonessentials.

Either way, these selfish young women do not command the same respect from their husbands and their children that is accorded the working mother whose labors are performed in behalf of the family welfare.

I am sure that my young correspondent will not repeat the mistakes of her employer. And I am sure that her children will have fewer accidents and fewer serious illnesses than the children presently in her charge.

The Mature Parent

Calling Spade a Spade Explodes False Virtues

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

The letter was addressed to her daughter and bore the postmark of an Army post of which she had heard. She hesitated only a moment before opening it. Sure enough, the good-looking, too-sure-of-himself young serviceman Julie had met at a New Year's party had a leave coming and wanted "to spend as much of it with you as you will let me."

Later when her daughter got home, she gave her the opened letter saying, "I was naughty to open it. I know. It was unforfeitable. But I was so interested to hear what he said that I couldn't wait for you. You don't mind, do you, dear? Are you going to see him? He . . ."

Her daughter exploded. "You snooped, Mother!" she cried. "What right had you to read my letter? If you ever do this to me again . . ."

Mother began to cry. "That I should live to see the day my own child called me a 'snooper,'" she wailed. "How dare you call your own mother a 'snooper'? Other girls would be grateful to have a mother so interested in them. But not you, not you . . ."

The trick of diverting the other fellow's criticism of our shortcomings by calling them virtues is an old, old device of people who must be perfect.

Like Julie's mother, they have no faults. They open children's mail, not out of snooping, but out of "interest" in them. They accept a relative's domination, not out of spinelessness but out of respect for "peace in the home." They are never glib, but "trusting," their stinginess is "thrift" and their conceit always "pride." Such idealizers of their shortcomings naturally get upset when someone else names the shortcomings accurately.

This is sad. In all our faults there is a seed of virtue we can nourish if we are willing to admit them and start pruning them clean of fears. In the snoopingness of Julie's mother is a seed of genuine interest in her daughter that can grow if she's willing to ask herself:

"Why do I distrust my own training of Julie? Haven't I done the best I can to help her register the difference between sincerity and insincerity? If this young serviceman isn't worth her interest, why can't I trust her to discover it?"

But if we have to be perfect, we can have no faults to grow from.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy shows a lot of self-confidence in deciding to hold his news conference on live television. Still, it's natural for him to do this. His predecessors in the White House have been leading up to it step by step. He took the next one.

These Kennedy news conferences, appearing in living rooms all over America while they're happening, close a gap.

They close the separation between citizens and their government by giving them a more immediate sense of understanding and participation.

Watching a Kennedy news conference on TV will be the same as being at it except for the inability to ask questions.

People will not only be able to observe their President but pass private judgment on him, his wisdom and his policies.

Kennedy, of course, could be creating a trap for himself. If he makes a slip with the whole country watching, it's made.

He could even create a disaster—remote as that seems—by a slip in foreign affairs.

Yet, strangely, over the years American presidents have made extraordinarily few blunders at news conferences.

Anyone who has been in Washington any time knows this. Kennedy has been here steadily since 1947, serving in Congress.

Besides, he has demonstrated he is extremely well able to take care of himself in a fast give and take as in his TV debates with former Vice President Richard Nixon.

By going on live TV, Kennedy has thrown aside one safeguard against mistakes which other presidents used.

They either insisted upon being quoted indirectly or having their aides check over the question-answer transcript before allowing direct quotes.

There was no televising of President Truman's meetings with the press. President Eisenhower permitted TV cameras to record his conferences.

But before he could be quoted directly or shown on the nation's TV screens, his press secretary, James Hagerty, had the right to change or ban anything he decided should not be reported or shown.

Still, White House newsmen who covered Eisenhower from the beginning do not recall that Hagerty ever in eight years cut anything of importance out of the word-by-word transcript.

If something Eisenhower said might be open to misinterpretation, Hagerty at times put out an explanatory note, along with the transcript, to set the record straight.

Now did he cut anything of importance out of the TV films which were shown later?

Nevertheless, he could have done so if he wished. There will be no one to backstop Kennedy. But Kennedy is better prepared to answer questions about government than Eisenhower was, starting out.

A Glance Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

An extension course, "The History of the Early Christian Church," will be offered by MacMurray College. Dr. McEndree Blair will be the instructor.

James Edward Hart of Woodson has been appointed a member of the Illinois State Police Force. Greene County contributed $1,117.47 in corn and cash to the 1960 CROP campaign.

20 YEARS AGO

Miss Margaret Gunn and Walter C. Rabjohns, Jr. were married Friday. Rev. W. C. Meeker, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, officiated.

G. V. Skinner, 807 S. East St., will celebrate his 90th birthday Monday. He was born in New Jersey and operated a blacksmith shop on the site of the present postoffice for 53 years.

Morgan County delegates to the St. Louis convention of the Illinois Agricultural association are Daniel Dietrick of Concord, V. G. Keplinger of Waverly, Leonard Wood of Franklin and Albert Nienhiser of Chapin.

50 YEARS AGO

B. A. Cretz of Chapin is in charge of the former James Silcox store in Concord, which was recently purchased by the Onken Bros. of Chapin.

Rev. John N. Dewell, beloved superintendent of the White Hall Orphan's Home, died suddenly of paralysis of the heart Tuesday morning.

A few people went out to see the new electric pumps of the Widenham-Dewell wells north of the city yesterday.

75 YEARS AGO

We hear reports of deep religious interest throughout this county, as well as all other parts of the land. Last Sunday, at the M.E. church in Franklin there were over 600 to hear Rev. H. M. Hamill, our former city superintendent of schools. Altar, pulpit, chancel, aisles, every part of the room was packed. The preacher had to stand on the chancel railing while speaking. At the Concord M.E. church there were some 200 standing throughout the service.

On account of the cold, many farmers walked to town yesterday. Three prominent grocers were seen riding to the square in the same sleigh yesterday morning. A rise in the price of cabbage may reasonably be expected.

We Must Await Kennedy's Clarification of His Address

By PETER EDSON

Written For NEA

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Kennedy's inaugural address is not being taken here as something to file and forget after one hearing or reading.

It is providing a good exercise for anyone who will take the trouble to sit down with pencil and paper and try to translate the President's almost mystical generalities of high purpose into specific language, naming names and writing programs instead of leaving them to inference.

Jumping Right Into the middle of the text, what is it that the new leader of the nation is saying to the Russians?

"We offer not a pledge, but a request: That both sides begin anew and quest for peace."

The Russians, as the self-styled champions of the "peace-loving nations," may seize upon this and say they are ready and always have been making this quest, but that the capitalist warmongers have always defeated the effort.

Two of President Kennedy's short sentences are being widely quoted:

"Let us never negotiate out of fear. But let us never fear to negotiate."

Russia's Khrushchev may use this language to urge with renewed vigor a summit conference.

The President does not say where, when, or how he will negotiate. And to those Americans who consider any negotiations with the Russians futile, this is not a promising prospect.

As To What Shall Be Negotiated, the President suggests first, "precise proposals for inspection and control of arms."

The United States has, for 15 years, been making precise proposals to the Russians for arms inspection and control. The first proposal, the Baruch plan, even offered to share with the Russians the secret of atomic energy, before they discovered it for themselves.

This was certainly an offer to "let both sides join to invoke the wonders of science, instead of its terrors," as the President implores with such high idealism.

But the Russians rejected the most magnificent Baruch plan, as they have rejected all subsequent American offers.

They have not been interested in inspection and control of arms. Their slogan now is "general and complete disarmament"—immediately—with inspection and control worked out later.

This Approach President Kennedy seems to reject out of hand when he declares:

"We dare not tempt them with weakness. For only when our arms are sufficient beyond doubt can we be certain beyond doubt that they will never be employed."

But assuming that by some miracle of diplomacy or a change of Russian heart this noble purpose could be achieved, what would be next? The President prescribes:

"Let both sides join in creating a new world where the strong are just and the weak are secure and the peace (will be) preserved forever."

No one—Republican, Democrat, conservative, liberal, Socialist or Communist—can quarrel with the idealism of this great goal. But when the Communist countries maintain that the capitalist nations are the oppressors of the weak and the democracies maintain that the totalitarian states are never just, there is no common ground.

And since the Russians and their satellites do not recognize a rule of law but only a rule of force, the attainment of even a temporary peace becomes a distant dream.

Even Kennedy recognizes this will not be attained in his administration, perhaps not in his lifetime. But he wants to begin. And that is considered the essence of his inaugural message.

This Is A Speech That May Be more widely acclaimed in foreign countries for its inspirational qualities and its words of hope for old allies, new nations and those peoples of Latin America and "half the globe struggling to break the bonds of mass misery."

For America there is only a call for strength and sacrifice to maintain "those human rights to which this nation has always been committed."

Anyone not able to interpret the specifics of that will have to wait until the President delivers his own State of the Union and later messages to Congress.

THOUGHTS

Aud he did what was right in the eyes of the Lord according to all that his father Uzziah had done—only he did not invade the temple of the Lord. But the people still followed corrupt practices. —II Chron. 27:2.

matter of FACT

City folk love to go outdoors after a rain. The air seems clearer, fresher and sweeter. Does rain purify the air? The U.S. Public Health Service says they found there is almost as much dust and soot in the air during and after a rainfall as before. It just doesn't seem like it.

The impact of the crash pushed the Hoene auto forward into the rear of another parked car, a 1953 Packard owned by Robert C. Barbour, R. R. 3, Jacksonville.

Giffin told police that he was going to make a right turn onto West Wolcott when the accident happened.

Pick Heart Fund Drive Chairmen In Pike County

PITTSFIELD—The Pike County Heart Fund Drive is now in progress. Diseases of the heart and blood vessels are still the nation's number one health enemy. If we can firmly establish this fact in the minds of the residents in the community they will recognize the importance of putting the Heart Fund at the top of their gift list for health.

In addition to calling for Heart Fund contributions, volunteers perform a valuable educational service in distributing information presenting the latest knowledge about heart attacks, rheumatic fever, high blood pressure and strokes.

The township chairmen for the Heart Fund drive are as follows: Atlas, Mrs. Homer Snyder; Barry, Mrs. Kenneth Grimes; Chambersburg, Mrs. Bessie Jane Vose; Cincinnati, Mrs. Volume Vincent and Mrs. Frank Madarasz; Derry, Mrs. Ray Meyers; Detroit, Mrs. Charles Orr.

Fairmount, Mrs. Robert Reeves; Flint, Mrs. Arthur Turnbull; Griggsville, Mrs. Glenn Riley; Hadley, Mrs. Truman Ford; Hardin, Mrs. Homer Bauer; Kinderhook, Mrs. Lawrence Adkins and Mrs. Opal Cronce.

KIT CARSON RELIC
WETMORE, Colo. (AP)—Residents of this south-central Colorado community are convinced that Kit Carson, frontier scout, left his calling card at Hardscabble Creek near Wetmore.

The letters "Kit C." are carved on a large rock that jutted from the stream. Several years ago someone broke off the section of the rock that bore that inscription and carried it away.

But it apparently was too large to hide safely, and the stone was found where it had been thrown in a weed patch beside a road. Now it is set in cement and protected by iron bars at a picnic ground near the creek.

TWO CLUBS IS CATCH-ALL BID

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA

In using the Jacoby two bid, the opening bid of two clubs is a catch all in that it represents one of four different type hands. The bid response to the two club is two diamonds and it is also the usual response so our first illustrations will cover the rebid over two diamonds.

Today's hand illustrates the 23 or 24-point no trump hand. With three points North raises to three and hopes for the best.
In playing the hand at three no
trump, South must play a low heart from dummy at trick one and win with the ace. The only real future in the hand is in North's diamond suit and South wants to have a sure entry to it.

After winning that heart trick
South should play ace-king and three of diamonds.

East will gain the lead. If he returns a heart South will have one spade, two hearts, four diamonds and two clubs in top cards; while if East returns a spade South must not try the play of the queen. Instead he should make the conservative, but sure thing play of the eight.

West will be in with the ten, but if he continues the spades South will

ALARM SYSTEM
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (P)—Tallahassee merchants have set up a cooperative alarm system to cut down on losses from worthless
checks passers and shoplifters.
When a storekeeper detects a bad check or sees a shoplifter making off with goods, he calls the sheriff's office and gives all the information available about the offender. A deputy calls two merchants and each calls two more and so on until the alarm is out all over town.
If the shoplifter or bad check writer tries his tricks at another store, there's a good chance he'll be nabbed immediately.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE

By Henry Farrell

Copyright © 1960 by Henry Farrell Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

THE STORY: Blanche Hudson now lives in a dream world of her former glory as a screen star. She was crippled in a car accident years ago, but her films now appear on television. She lives with her sister Jane who was a former child vaudeville star, whose career faded before Blanche's began.

bered—who cared enough to write.
"You didn't see them before,
did you?"

Taking her hand from her eyes, Blanche looked up in confusion; for a moment she had quite forgotten about Mrs.
Stitt.

"I didn't think so."
But Blanche had already returned to the letters. Taking up the one marked "Personal,"
she looked for the return address and found the name William Carroll.

Bill Carroll had been her leading man in four of her most successful films. The romance the studio had contrived for them had never quite jelled, but they had been the closest of close friends.
For a while, that is, until the accident. Afterwards, Bill had tried repeatedly to visit her,
both at the hospital and, later,
at home, but she had refused to see him, just as she had refused to see the others.

"Dear Blanche," she read, "I know the odds are against this ever reaching you, but after seeing 'Blonde Byline' on TV
the other night I just had to write."

The letter, falling from her hand, joined the others in her lap.

"Where—where did you find these? I thought the morning mail—"

Mrs. Stitt drew her mouth down into a thin line of disapproval. "Those weren't in the morning mail," she said flatly,
"they were in the trash. I took some papers out to the barrel and if I hadn't just happened to look down—"

"In the trash?" Blanche stared at the woman. Mrs. Stitt nodded portentously and then she jerked a thumb back over her shoulder. "I guess she just —tossed them out!" as a means of expressing her controlled but active dislike for Jane.

"But where—?"

"They came from the TV station that's showing your pictures."

Blanche made a gesture of limp confusion. "Jane must have thrown them out by mistake. If the studio insignia was on the envelope she probably thought it was some sort of advertisement—"

Reaching again into the wide pocket of her apron, Mrs. Stitt produced a large brown Manila envelope. After a moment's hesitation, she held it out.

"You—you might as well see this, I guess—"

Blanche took the envelope.

At the center was a white sticker upon which had been typed her name and address.
In the upper left was stamped
the return address.

"The other side," Mrs. Stitt said thinly.

The word seemed to leap up at her like a shouted epithet, angry, ugly, obscene, scrawled in strokes so vicious that in several places the point of the pen had bitten into the thick stuff of the envelope and torn it.

Turning the envelope back,
Blanche pressed it quickly down into her lap as if to crush
the word out of existence.
Looking down at her, Mrs. Stitt drew her hands stiffly across the front of her apron.

"I'm sorry," Her voice was contrite now, but still unsteady.
"I guess I shouldn't have shown
you. I hate to be a trouble maker. But—"

Blanche raised a hand. "It's all right," Her gaze slid inadvertently toward the door.

HATCHING MUSCLE
CARBONDALE, Ill. (P)—A Southern Illinois University professor says a special hatching muscle enables baby chicks to break out of an egg.

Harvey Fisher, chairman of the SIU zoology department, says when the chick reaches full development inside the egg, its brain signals a muscle which stretches from the back of its head to the nape of its neck.

The muscle pulls the head back and forth in a pecking motion which eventually cracks the shell.
Fisher spent part of the year at the Delta Waterfowl Station in Canada watching birds hatch.

May Be Captive Liner

maison planes, were under instructions to determine the position, course and speed of the ship.

British radio monitors expressed belief the Santa Maria was on a course toward Angola. This is about 5,000 miles across the Atlantic from the West Indies.

U.S. and Dutch planes and American and British surface craft took part in the search for the liner—seized on the high seas with the avowed aim of starting ouster of Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, Portugal's ruler for 33 years.

From the trim multimillion-dollar liner, the rebels broadcast a triumphant "mission accomplished" to the master mind of the daring plot, Gen. Humberto Delgado.

Delgado, who fled into exile after he charged the Salazar regime robbed him of the presidency in the 1958 election, disclosed at Sao Paulo, Brazil, that the 70 men who seized the Santa Maria were acting on his orders as head of the National Independent Junta of Liberation.

The 54-year-old general appealed to the United States and Britain to call off their pursuers.

"The Santa Maria case does not represent mutiny or piracy but is an appropriation of a Portuguese transport by Portuguese men for Portuguese political purposes," he said in telegrams to American Ambassador John Moors Cabot and British Ambassador Sir Geoffrey Wallinger in Rio de Janeiro.

Capt. Henrique Malta Galvao, the swashbuckling soldier, right-wing politician, led the band that captured the Santa Maria, broadcast a warning his men would resist any attempt to retake the ship.

"We will not surrender in any case," Galvao pledged in a message to Delgado. "We follow our secret destination and salute your excellency, the chief of state elected by the people."

Galvao reported everything normal among the 600 passengers.

Charge Arabs Sending Arms Into Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—President Joseph Kasavubu of the Congo charged the United Arab Republic Tuesday with flagrant interference in his country's internal affairs and asked the U.N. Security Council to meet and take "appropriate measures."

Kasavubu and his foreign affairs commissioner, Justin Bomboko, cabled a request to the council president for January. He happened to be U.A.R. delegate Omar Loufi.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined in fairly active trading early this afternoon. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .30 at 230.50 with industrials down 1.30, rails off .20, and utilities up .50.

The list seemed to be going through further consolidation following its week-to-week advance in 1961.

American Telephone touched another historic high of 111 1/4 as it advanced more than a point in brisk dealings. International Business Machines, which soared 2 1/2 points Tuesday on stock split news, dropped about 10 in profit taking.

Aircraft-missiles, autos, steels, rails, and nonferrous metals were mostly lower. Utilities and oils were up on balance. Tobacco, drugs, and building materials were mixed.

Some Wall Streeters pondered over possible news on disarmament, spending, and defense which might emanate from President Kennedy's first televised news conference. This bred hesitation in regard to the aircraft-missile group.

Ford (ex dividend) dropped more than a point. General Motors eased. U.S. Steel was a 1-point loser. DuPont dropped about 3 while Eastman Kodak picked up a point.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .65 at 638.14. Corporate bonds advanced. U.S. government bonds declined slightly.

SPAIN CANCELS OIL ORDER; BEANS DROP

CHICAGO (AP)—Cancellation by Spain of an order for $20.5 million worth of vegetable oils set off liquidation of soybean and soybean oil futures on the Board of Trade today.

Soybean gains which ran to more than 2 1/2 cents a bushel earlier were wiped out as prices slipped about 4 cents from their highs of the day.

However, following the broad advances of Tuesday, the market showed little resistance to any hint of bearishness as profit takers were quick to sell.

The grains held generally in a mixed range with trade slow.

Soybeans were 1/2-1 1/4 cents a bushel lower at noon, March $2.53 1/4; wheat 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, March $2.13 1/4; oats 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, March 65 1/4; rye 1/2-1 cent lower, March $1.15.

At the close soybeans were 3 cents a bushel lower to 1/2 higher, March $2.51 1/4; wheat 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, March $2.13 1/4; corn 1/4 to 1/2 lower, March $1.12 1/4; oats 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, March 65 1/4; rye 1/2 to 1/4 lower, March $1.14 1/4.

Pirate Chief Says He Learned Of Democracy From U.S., Canada

LISBON (AP)—Gen. Humberto Delgado, the man behind the seizure of the Portuguese liner Santa Maria, says he soured on Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar's regime because he learned about democracy in Canada and the United States.

For 30 years he was an ardent supporter of Salazar. For 10 years he served the regime in Canada and in Washington, finally as Portugal's representative to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization military group in Washington.

Prospects Good For Federal Help In Labor Disputes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The impression is out—from the Kennedy administration's quick and auspiciously successful role in settling the New York tugboat strike—that the federal government intends to take a hand in settling big labor disputes.

The impression probably will turn out to be correct, but the actual size of the government role remains to be seen.

Arthur J. Goldberg, the labor union-oriented new secretary of labor in President Kennedy's Cabinet, says anything "we can do to help, we will do it."

But he told newsmen upon his return from New York—where he played a key role in settling the crippling tugboat strike that had stalled East Coast rail traffic—this does not mean, I hasten to add, that every little dispute in the country will require this type of participation. Obviously that would be impossible.

Goldberg, former special counsel to the AFL-CIO and to several of its key unions, objected to describing the part he played in breaking the negotiation deadlock in New York as governmental "intervention."

He said he would rather call it "an expression or indication of the concern and interest of the government in a dispute which strikes at the very vitals of the federal system."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had a policy of avoiding such extra-curricular federal action in labor disputes.

However, there seldom was a major dispute that Eisenhower's labor secretary, James P. Mitchell, wasn't trying to help settle from behind the scenes if not on the firing line as was Goldberg in the New York negotiations.

Management generally opposes and unions generally favor federal intervention. Employees contend that in many instances unions got bigger strike settlements after White House intervention than they would have otherwise.

Ben D. Kinnigham, the association's executive director, said in a telegram to Kerner that provisional statistics indicate there may be an increase in newly reported active cases of the disease for 1960.

"A let-up in any phase of TB control program now means probable increase in TB cases and death rate," the telegram added.

Kerner told a news conference 10 days ago tuberculosis no longer is a major public health problem in the state.

TO SEEK KENNEDY, NIXON FOR STATE FAIR SPEAKERS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—President Kennedy and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be sought as speakers for the 1961 State Fair, State Agricultural Director Ralph Bradley said Tuesday.

Bradley told the Illinois Association of Agricultural Fairs the 1960 presidential rivals will be asked to appear in an effort to boost fair attendance.

Appearances of Kennedy or Nixon on other national political figures also would be the best way of reviving the Republican and Democratic days at the fair, Bradley said. The political days were discontinued after the 1956 campaign.

Nation Still Shivers In Sub-Zero Weather

Coast from South Carolina to northern Florida. As the cold air moved in, the rain changed to freezing rain or sleet in the central and northern parts of the Gulf states. Glazing made driving conditions hazardous.

Snow fell in western Texas and central and southern New Mexico. A fast-moving snowstorm, powered by 60 m.p.h. winds, pounded Texas reaching blizzard proportions in the Plainview area.

A belt of freezing rain or sleet was forecast from central sections of Texas into Louisiana, southern Arkansas, southern and central parts of Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia.

The Weather Bureau in New Orleans said the freezing precipitation was expected to be light during the day but added there was a possibility of a major ice-snow storm over the Gulf Coast states during the next 48 hours.

Snow flurries continued to pepper sections of the Great Lakes, the central Rockies and the northern Plateau states.

Law Professor New Internal Revenue Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mortimer Caplin, 44, a University of Virginia law professor, was chosen by President Kennedy Tuesday to be internal revenue commissioner.

The White House announced that Kennedy will formally nominate Caplin, a Democrat, shortly. Caplin, whose home is at Charlottesville, Va., teaches corporate and tax law in the university law school.

A native of New York, Caplin was educated in public schools there. He received a bachelor of science degree in economics and political science at the University of Virginia in 1937. He won a law degree at the same university three years later.

Caplin worked as a law clerk to a federal judge before joining the law firm of Paul, Weiss, Rifkin, Wharton and Garrison in New York City, after graduation from law school. During World War II he served as a lieutenant junior grade in the Navy and was decorated for bravery during the Normandy invasion.

After the war he returned to the New York law firm and continued private practice until 1950 when he joined the University of Virginia Law School faculty.

NAVY PLANE CRASHES WITH FIVE ABOARD

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A Navy P2V Neptune patrol plane with five aboard crashed into San Diego bay Tuesday night.

The Navy said one body has been recovered.

The two-engine plane took off at 7:33 Tuesday night. Search was started at 10:30 p.m. after it failed to make radio contact within the mandatory period of three hours.

The plane was from Patrol Squadron 781, based at Glenview, Ill. Officials said it was a reserve squadron and had reported here last week for two weeks active duty.

Discovery of the body determined that the craft had crashed in the bay.

The tools, formerly forest green, used to be overlooked on grass and among plants and left behind on installation jobs.

SEEK DAMAGES FOR COLLISION IN WHICH SEVEN WERE KILLED

ELGIN, Ill. (AP)—Suits seeking $210,000 in damages for a truck auto collision that killed seven persons last year have been filed in Kane County Circuit Court.

One suit sought $180,000 from Thomas Childer, 13 months. His father, Richard, his mother, grandmother and four brothers and sisters died in the collision Nov. 11 near Elburn, where the Childers lived.

Another suit filed Tuesday sought $30,000 in the death of the grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Thomas of Albion, Iowa, and was filed by her son, Phillip.

Named as defendants were Merritt E. Cagwin, Lockport, whose firm operated the truck; the driver, Orrin Scher, Lockport, and another motorist, John Popenhagen of Richmond, Ill.

VETERAN AD MAN DIES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Herbert Field McLaury, 70, veteran railroad advertising man, died Tuesday after a long illness. He was advertising manager of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad from 1925 until 1936, when he took a similar post with the Association of American Railroads. McLaury, who retired in 1958, was born in Burlington, Iowa.

Kennedy backed during the campaign.

In one major respect the formula at Kennedy news conferences will be the same as it has been since 1933 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt put the sessions on a wide open basis. There will be no questions barred and Kennedy won't know what they are until they are fired at him.

Kennedy will be setting precedent in these ways:

1. He is starting a policy of letting the TV and radio networks broadcast any or all of his news conferences on a live basis.

2. Kennedy is the first president to hold a formal news conference at night—and there will be more of them from time to time at evening hours. Generally, however, the conferences will be held during the day with the sessions alternating between morning and afternoon.

3. At Kennedy news conferences reporters will be permitted to quote the President directly and immediately.

Hold Hearings On Flood Control Of Fox River

ELGIN, Ill. (AP)—Government funds will be sought to finance a study of flood problems along the Fox River and its tributaries in Illinois and Wisconsin. It was announced Tuesday.

William E. Brannon of Burlington, Wis., testified at a hearing held by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers that legislation seeking the appropriation will be introduced in Congress by Rep. Henry Shadegren, D-Wis.

Col. J. A. Smedley of Chicago presided at the hearing in which some 30 witnesses testified about flood conditions or dangers along the Fox River.

The Corps of Engineers will review the evidence submitted and prepare recommendations for Congress.

Chester R. Davis, president of the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, said recent high water on the Fox River has flooded local areas and stimulated public reaction to seek a correction.

The commission wants local regulations to prohibit new building and other improvements in low lands subject to such flooding. It also advocates provisions for outdoor recreation and water pollution abatement accompany any flood control measures.

Henry L. Utey, engineer for the villages of East and West Dundee, testified that local flooding knocks the sanitation systems out of kilter in those two communities causing pollution of the Fox River.

Paul E. Lohause, representing the Lower Wisconsin Flood Control Committee, said the dam at Wilmet, Wis., has been a sore spot in the flood picture. He said two flood gates upstream empty into the river with only one flood gate at Wilmet to handle the extra water.

The letter was signed by O. C. West, principal; James Fowler, assistant principal, and G. David Hunt, president of the high school's teachers' association.

Hunt said Tuesday the immediate reaction from parents in the fashionable suburban area was in favor of the faculty's decision. Students have not voiced reaction either way, he added.

"We have some evidence to support the supposition that parent-sponsored cocktail parties are held preceding the prom," Hunt said.

"This is a parental problem and not something that belongs in the school," he continued. "I'm sure the students will want to have a prom. But something will have to be worked out by a group of parents."

The letter said, "The school will take no further action regarding a prom until parents and students offer convincing evidence that this problem is under effective control."

West said the administrative staff, faculty and board of education agreed upon the action, which, he said, was based on evidence that "incidents of student drinking are taking place with knowledge of parents beforehand."

West and Hunt said they don't know how many students drink at prom-time or of any accidents arising from the drinking.

"This is one of the reasons we thought it would be good to act now—before something does happen," Hunt said.

Multi-Million Skyscraper Set For Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Plans for a six-block, multi-million dollar skyscraper to be built above railroad tracks on the downtown lakefront were announced Tuesday by the Illinois Central Railroad and a group of Chicago and Texas investors.

No specific cost was mentioned in the announcement. But Tom B. Boston, Dallas, head of the investment group, said the total might top $150 million.

The skyscraper, termed an "office building-office complex" by its planners, would extend three blocks east from the Prudential Building to Lake Shore Drive, and two blocks north from Randolph street to South Water street. Specific plans have not been drawn, nor has a definite construction date been set.

Boston and Wayne A. Johnston, president of Illinois Central, said an option purchase agreement for the six blocks of air rights has been signed between the Illinois Central and the Illinois Center Corp., a new corporation formed to carry out the project.

The construction site will be 18 acres, excluding space for streets and alleys. The announcement said the sale of air rights would be the largest transfer involving the Illinois Central's extensive lake front holdings. The railroad owns 16 blocks in that area.

The first major transfer was in February 1951, when Prudential Insurance Co. of America paid $23,200,000 for the 3.3-acre site of the 41-story Prudential Building. Ten more acres of air rights recently were sold at undisclosed prices near McCormick Place, the city's new convention center. Five acres are earmarked for a large hotel, but no plans have been announced for the other five acres.

GRANT TO HOUSING BOARD

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Urban Renewal Administration Tuesday announced a $17,200 grant to the Illinois Housing Board to finance preparation of a comprehensive plan for the growth and development of Rock Falls, East Alton and Oaklawn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Those in pro ice hockey do not have to be hit on the head with a stick to know that league expansion is inevitable.

They're just slower about it, that's all, than their playmates in other pro team sports—baseball, basketball, football, bowling—who are dropping new teams and leagues into almost every corner of the United States.

"It may take two or three years before the National Hockey League expands but that year will come soon," Quote Herb Goren, New York Rangers' press representative.

Pro hockey needs this boost to get out of the small type listing to which it is largely confined.

Expansion in the only major hockey league probably will come because three main reasons held against it by NHL owners are being blown to the four winds. They are: lack of stadium facilities, the prohibitive cost of breaking even (about $700,000 and up per team for one season) and the Chicago Black Hawks.

Pittsburgh built a $20 million stadium suitable for hockey and reportedly will field a team in the minor American Hockey League. Stadiums in San Francisco (Cow Palace) and Los Angeles (the new Sports Arena) are ideal for the majors and spectator interest there is loosening money belts.

The Black Hawks, with a winning team this year, may break into the black after a 10-year drought in Chicago where the team was kept only by the grace and enormous pocketbook of Jim Norris. And as everyone should know, new "angels" don't come in where "fools" already are losing money.

Until recently, ice hockey, professional or otherwise, in this hemisphere rarely penetrated farther south than New York (or perhaps Hershey, Pa.) and was virtually confined in the vast Western United States to Washington and Minnesota.

But television, courtesy of CBS, in the last four years has spread the hockey word and picture. So leagues developed in places like Charlotte and Greensboro, N. C., and a pro game was played in Jacksonville, Fla.

And an exhibition game between the NHL's Boston Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs drew 10,000 fans in alien Los Angeles where a pro basketball contest is fortunate to draw much more than half that number.

The surprise victory by the U.S. Olympic ice hockey team gave the game another boost here, "although professional hockey probably won't feel the benefits for four or five years," Goren says.

Right now, there are no American players in the NHL but the game is being "sold American" for those very good monetary reasons.

Should the NHL expand, it will be the first major change since the league was pared to its present six-team set-up in 1942 after sliding downhill from 10 teams and two divisions in 1926. But internally, the league has already expanded by increasing its original 44-game per team schedule to 50 in 1942, and present 70 in '46.

Where are the loudest rumblings of expansion coming from? Los Angeles and San Francisco were represented at a recent NHL confab; Pittsburgh, and Cleveland, which has a team in the AHL, have been heard.

Goren thinks expansion will succeed in the U.S. because "ice hockey, a fast action game with the simplest of rules, makes the best first impression of any major team sport."

Propose Broken Time Payments For Athletes

LONDON (AP)—A strong move to permit amateur athletes payment for loss of wages from a regular job is expected to be launched at a meeting of the International Amateur Athletic Federation in June.

Dr. Max Lunde, a German member of the International Olympic Committee, is reported ready to ask the federation to "legalize broken time payments to athletes."

The German can expect plenty of support from other nations pestered by expense problems from the athletes.

"It is not right for an amateur to have to sacrifice his pay to race for his country," said Brian Hewson of Britain, the reigning European 1,500-meter champion.

"My salary is never cut when I run abroad, but I feel sorry for the fellows who have lost their wages."

Britain proposed in 1952 that broken-time payments should be allowed to meet special hardship cases. The proposal was turned down.

Now it's not certain the British will support such a proposal, although the athletes themselves appear to be ready to back it.

LOOKS MORE LIKE BOOBY PRIZE CUP

TORONTO (AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs think the Governors' Cup looks more like a booby prize than a pennant trophy after collecting the cup for winning the International League flag during the 1960 baseball season. The cup is 25 years old. And it looks it.

When the cup arrived here Monday, it had a chipped base, a bent lid and blotched and peeling silver plating.

General Manager Frank Pollock of the Leafs said "there's nothing to indicate what teams have won it. I'm going to suggest at our league meeting this Saturday that the names of the pennant winners be engraved on the cup."

ABC ENTRIES CLOSE
DETROIT (AP)—Team entries closed Tuesday for the 58th annual American Bowling Congress Tournament and officials reported the fourth largest team entry in history.

Nearly 31,000 bowlers will take part, and will shoot at a $462,000 prize fund.

Ohio State Faces Two Big Hurdles In Its Bid For Perfect Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio State faces two big hurdles in its bid for a perfect season and the unchallenged No. 1 position in the Associated Press major college basketball poll.

The Buckeyes play Purdue and that team's high-scoring ace, Terry Dischinger, Saturday at Columbus. They take on Iowa, the country's sixth ranked team, on Feb. 18.

These appear the only really dangerous obstacles in the remaining 11 games on the Ohio State schedule. If they hurdle them, the Buckeyes could finish the campaign with 24 straight victories and another national championship.

The latest weekly poll of a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters made Ohio State a unanimous No. 1 choice for the sixth straight week.

St. Bonaventure held second place, followed by Bradley, North Carolina, Duke, Iowa, St. John's, Louisville, Southern California and Purdue.

In the Ohio State-Purdue clash Saturday afternoon before a regional television audience, the spotlight will be on the individual scoring duel between Purdue's Dischinger and his Olympic teammate, All America Jerry Lucas of Ohio State.

Dischinger is the Big Ten scoring leader with an average of 26.8 points a game. Lucas is in close pursuit with 26.2 points average.

Some of the edge was taken off the game when Northwestern upset Purdue Monday night 64-62. Ohio State previously beat Northwestern 79-53.

Southern Cal (12-2) and Purdue (9-3) are newcomers to the top ten. DePaul, which lost twice last week, and Kansas State, beaten by Kansas, dropped out.

Holcomb Turns Down Indiana Offer Tuesday

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Athletic director Stu Holcomb of Northwestern said Tuesday night he has turned down an offer from Indiana University for a similar post.

Holcomb's decision ended two days of speculation that he was headed for Indiana.

Holcomb said he reached his decision after two conferences Tuesday with Northwestern president J. Roscoe Miller, who left it up entirely to him whether to accept the offer.

"After talking to Dr. Miller and to my athletic staff, I felt it best to remain at Northwestern," said the 50-year-old Holcomb, who has a full professor standing and tenure.

"But I feel that Indiana offers a fine opportunity for an athletic director. It has one of the finest physical plants in the country."

Holcomb visited the Indiana campus Monday and talked with the school's president, Herman B. Wells, and Athletic Director Frank Allen.

Allen, who will be 70, retires this year. Holcomb's five-year contract at Northwestern expires in August.

Holcomb reportedly was top choice among three men interviewed for the Indiana job. The others were said to be Ernie McCoy, Penn State athletic director, and Ray Elliot, assistant athletic director at Illinois.

Easton led by only one, 13-12 at the end of the first quarter but started ripping the nets in the second period and built up a 43-21 half-time lead.

Guterman led the winners with 15 points as six men got into double figures. Willis topped San Jose's scoring with 14 markers.

In the frosh-soph race, Mason City downed San Jose 33-28. Tomorrow Forman meets Mason City in varsity action and Havana plays Forman in the JV contest.

ASKS SYRACUSE RETURN
SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—The International League Tuesday asked Syracuse to return to the Class AAA baseball circuit, proposing to shift the Montreal franchise here.

Tommy Richardson, league president, presented the plan in a closed-door meeting with city officials. The city is expected to make a decision before the International holds its annual meeting in New York Saturday.

The plan reportedly calls for a community-owned club, similar to those which have been successful in Buffalo and Rochester.

Payson Defeats Brown County On Charity Tosses

MT. STERLING — Payson outshot Brown County from the free throw line and handed the Bombers their tenth loss against five wins, 67-65, in a non conference contest.

Brown County caught Payson in the third quarter and it was a see-saw affair till the final horn with neither team holding more than a five point edge.

Mt. Sterling had taken an early lead, 7-0, but Payson came storming back to lead 19-14 at the end of the first quarter. In the final period the Bombers could make only 5 of 14 charity tosses and it spelled defeat, despite a tremendous 28 point output by Neal Kerley. Larry Loes led the winners with 20 points.

Brown County did salvage the preliminary contest, 39-33.

Cards May Find Outfielder And Catcher In Camp

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' search for another hard-hitting outfielder and a catcher may wind up in their own ranks.

Rookies Chris Cannizzaro and Tim McCarver were two of the most prized receivers in the minor leagues last year. Don Landrum was one of the International League's top outfielders at Buffalo and Jim Hickman had an outstanding season at Tulsa.

Cannizzaro, 22, made a deep impression on Cardinal Manager Sol White last year. Eventually sent to Rochester, the San Leandro, Calif., native batted a modest .251 but he is capable of better things.

McCarver, 19, was paid a big bonus two years ago. Last season, he hit .347 at Memphis, his home town.

Landrum, 24, cost the Cardinals five ball players and a bundle of cash, estimated at $50,000. Against International League pitching, he hit .292, leading the circuit in total bases (287), runs (112), hits (178) and doubles (35).

Hickman demonstrated extra base power in the Texas League where he slammed 23 doubles, 10 triples and 15 home runs on a .323 batting average in 111 games.

Other new outfielders are Duke Carmel, who had only fair success at St. Paul and Rochester, not hitting above .250 at either club; Doug Clemens, a first year player who batted .389 in 39 games at Billings in the Pioneer League; and Charley James, 22, former U. of Missouri football star, who batted .248 at Rochester.

NEXT: Chicago White Sox.

Johansson Opens Training Session

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Inge-Mar Johansson began workouts Tuesday to prepare for his third meeting with Heavyweight Boxing Champion Floyd Patterson on March 13.

Johansson commented that he perspires much more in the Florida climate than he did during his first two training sessions in the north, but added he liked the setup.

He is living at one motel and training at another. Both are on the beach facing the Atlantic Ocean, with a golf course adjoining.

The fight with Patterson will be held in the Miami Beach Convention Hall, which is 70 miles south of the Johansson training camp.

Ashland Loses In Sudden Death In Own Tournament

ASHLAND—Bill Jansen scored only one basket but it was the deciding one of the contest as Middletown nipped Ashland 57-55 in a sudden death overtime for the opening game of the Ashland Invitational Tournament.

The two clubs had ended regulation play tied 51-51 and each collected a field goal in the first overtime period to set the stage for Jansen's dramatic shot

Aussie Tennis Meet Becomes A Shambles

MELBOURNE (AP)—The Australian National Tennis Championships became a shambles Tuesday with the defeat of fourth-seeded Bob Hewitt and the possible withdrawal of defending champion Rod Laver.

Laver said he doubts he can continue because of a wrist injury suffered in a fall Monday.

Hewitt, a member of the Australian Davis Cup squad, was beaten by Christian Kuhnke, left-handed West German star, 6-1, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3. Bob Mark, another Aussie Davis Cup player, withdrew Monday to take off for South Africa.

With Neale Fraser also not playing, Roy Emerson is the lone member of the Australian Davis Cup squad to gain the quarter-finals. The Queenslanders defeated Bob Kearney 6-1, 6-2, 9-7.

Senator Says Athletes Vital Part Of Program

NEW YORK (AP)—The American sports competitor often attracts more attention overseas than our diplomats, and so we should be very careful about our manners, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) said Tuesday night.

"We may be able to absorb a flareup of bad sportsmanship in an event here, but the bad loser overseas is a heavy liability to all Americans," the senator added in an address prepared for delivery to the Metropolitan Golf Writers Association.

Symington declared there is no better ground of common interest than the field of sports for winning friends in other countries, and he added:

"Sports not only provide a means for friendly contact with people on the other side of the Iron Curtain, they also offer us a way to cement friendships at the people-to-people level with the companion countries of the free world."

Republican Can't Accept State Position

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Otto Kerner said Tuesday that a Republican he named to advise him in improving distribution of federal-state surplus property will be unable to take the job.

Kerner told newsmen that Howard R. Roberts of Lake Forest informed him Monday he could not take the temporary, non-paying job.

Kerner, who appointed Roberts Jan. 17, said any orders given by Roberts would be rescinded. He made no reference to reports that some Democrats objected to the appointment of Roberts.

An administrative assistant, Richard Thorne, said Kerner appointed the 66-year-old Roberts to collect information and offer advice to the governor on ways to modernize the distribution setup.

An announcement Monday said a warehouse for distribution of federal-state surplus property would be established in Chicago to serve the northern tier of Illinois counties.

Thorne said Tuesday that the governor, not Roberts, authorized establishment of the Chicago warehouse.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

Two months ago the Communist manifesto for 1961 classified Portugal as ripe for the type of national uprising which Soviet Premier Khrushchev, on Jan. 6, said the Soviet Union would support by force of arms.

Whether that was a correct estimate and whether it directly encouraged the anti-Salazar forces in Portugal and elsewhere, it has been followed by a dramatic attempt to advertise to the world that Portugal lives under a dictatorship.

The seizure of a Portuguese liner while on cruise thus represents an appeal for volunteers and money for an effort to overthrow Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

There is no outward evidence that this is a Communist appeal. But the Communists believe in trying to take over such movements for their own ends. The manifesto said it was a tie to believe that national revolts could succeed without communism.

Khrushchev explained it was the one type of war which communism really believed would be proper at this time.

The manifesto mentioned Spain and Portugal in the same sentence. Those who remembered the Spanish civil war as the testing ground for World War II could only shudder.

The Salazar dictatorship has been a developing thing over 32 years. The former law professor became minister of finance first and, when he had control of the nation's finances, assumed the premiership. He brought some semblance of order out of what had amounted almost to anarchy, and for a time held the somewhat doubtful good wishes of the world, as Mussolini once did in Italy.

His regime was regarded for the most part as something of a patriotic and benevolent dictatorship. But as it progressed, like all dictatorships, it has grown more and more repressive and faced more and more opposition. It has operated one of the tightest, least modern and most repressive colonial systems in the world. For a long time, now, its time has been running out.

It has reached the point where it is both a provocation and an opportunity for the Communists. They have been repressed by a government which controlled every seat in Parliament. Other opposition movements have shown their heads only sporadically.

But communism expects 1961 to bring its day in Portugal.

Atlantic Loop OKs Withdrawal Of North Carolina

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—The Atlantic Coast Conference Tuesday granted the University of North Carolina permission to withdraw from this year's championship basketball tournament.

The ACC left the door open for a change of heart by the university with the statement that "such withdrawal is not mandatory."

Chancellor William B. Aycock of the University of North Carolina could not be reached immediately for comment. Aycock Monday dispatched notice to ACC Commissioner Jim Weaver here that the university wished to drop out of the tournament because it was under one-year NCAA probation and ineligible to play for the national title.

Aycock said "in the interest of fair play" a team ineligible to play for the NCAA title should not compete against teams with a chance to try for the national title. The North Carolina team, fourth ranked nationally, has a 12-3 record and has won its last 10 games.

Meat, Eggs In Plans For Needy

Free Food Soon

By JERRY T. BAULCH
WASHINGTON (AP) —

In a month or so, low-income persons who get free food from the federal government will have a tastier variety — including meat, eggs and other items.

That was announced Tuesday by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in line with President Kennedy's order to double the food the government is providing for the nation's needy.

At present, food being distributed includes flour, corn meal, non fat dry milk, rice, lard and butter. These are acquired under farm price support programs as surplus items.

Under Freeman's expanded plan, foods will be purchased and added to the distribution list. They will include canned pork and gravy, dried beans and dried whole egg solids.

There were reports that Kennedy is considering asking Congress to authorize quickly extra money for unemployed.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg told of the President's concern about the jobless after talking with him Monday. He said Kennedy may have something to say about this at his news conference Wednesday.

While unemployment and the needy are not in all cases related, the two areas are closely linked, Kennedy's actions in these fields are steps to carry out his campaign promise that he would move quickly to relieve the distress in areas of chronic unemployment.

About 3.5 million needy persons in about one-third of the nation's counties now are receiving food from the federal government. Distribution is made through state and local welfare agencies.

The foods are distributed only in those states and counties which assume the responsibility and cost of determining who is eligible and making actual distributions.

During the fiscal year which ended last June 30, the Agriculture Department donated $25 million pounds of food, costing about $60 million, to the needy.

Freeman said foods purchased under the expanded program will be made available to state relief agencies by late February or early March.

Daring Master Pro Tem Longtime Foe Of Salazar

By JOSE SHERCLIFFE

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Henrique Malta Galvao, master pro tem of the cruise liner Santa Maria, is a hawk-faced revolutionary convicted three times of trying to overthrow Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

Now he is trying again — at sea.

Premier Salazar has denounced Galvao's seizure of the liner as a preposterous crime and called for an international hunt for recovery of the ship.

Galvao is 66, a novelist, playwright, soldier, politician and big game hunter who has set his sights again on Salazar after two years in exile in South America as a fugitive from an 18-year prison sentence.

He is tall and lean, with burning eyes. He is an indefatigable writer on politics, big game hunting, plays and romance. He has always had a wide circle of friends.

Galvao is a former captain in the Portuguese army and a one-time supporter of Salazar but swung long ago into opposition to the Portuguese dictatorship.

The turning point apparently came while Galvao was serving as government inspector in Angola, a Portuguese West African colony that is a neighbor of the Congo. The government pigeonholed his reports and never made public his findings.

In December 1952, Galvao was tried with a group of other army officers and civilians on a charge of plotting against the state. He was convicted. The conviction was quashed the following year, but he was thrown out of the army.

In 1958 he was tried—once publicly and later in secret—for a variety of charges which included inciting people to revolt.

That was a presidential campaign year and Galvao's candidate was Gen. Humberto Delgado, director general of civil aviation, who ran as an independent with the backing of liberal Republicans.

Delgado and a leftist opposition candidate, Dr. Arlindo Vicente, poet and painter, were swamped in a landslide by Salazar's man, Rear Adm. Americo Thomas. Thomas remains Portugal's president. Delgado charged the election was a fake. He took refuge in Portuguese-speaking Brazil.

At Galvao's public trial he was convicted and sentenced to five years in prison. Later, a prison inspection showed he was printing and distributing pamphlets both inside the prison and outside, and calling on the people to revolt.

After a secret trial in May 1958, he was sentenced to 18 years in prison.

Name 46-Man Committee To Strengthen GOP

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Forty-six members of a statewide committee to strengthen the Republican Party in Illinois were appointed Tuesday.

A notable absentee from the list was former Gov. William G. Stratton.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, who has been blaming Stratton for the party's election defeat, was named to the group. So was his assistant, Robert Chonson, and Sen. Arthur Bidwell of River Forest, a political associate of Carpenter.

U.S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen was represented on the committee by his secretary, Harold Rainville.

Rep. William E. Pollack, Illinois House minority leader, was appointed a member. Pollack managed Stratton's campaign in Chicago.

State GOP Chairman Victor L. Smith said the committee will build the framework of a citizens' Republican organization, which will concentrate its efforts in the Chicago area.

"The purpose of the organization will be to toughen Republican fibre and enlist the efforts of citizens who wish to contribute to the party," Smith added.

More committee members will be named this week. The group will meet Sunday in Kenilworth to organize on a permanent basis.

C. Of C. To Sponsor Sales Clinic Feb. 7

The Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce announced Tuesday that a one night Sales and Human Relations Clinic will be held on Tuesday night, Feb. 7, starting at 7:30 p.m. at the AMVET building on East Court street.

The clinic will be organized and directed by Lloyd L. Tribble of the Elmer Wheeler (Don't Sell the Steak—Sell the Sizzle) Sales Training Institute.

Thomas D. Rusinek, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said the class is open to any business firm wishing to enroll its employees. Purpose of the instruction is to help firms increase their business volume by applying common sense psychology in selling and tested human relations techniques in handling the customer.

Director of the clinic will explain Wheeler's successful methods of approach and talking to customers and of using "Selling Words and Sizzles" which apply not only to sales people but also to anyone meeting the public.

Chambers of Commerce over the U.S. and over 200 national business firms have recommended Wheeler's methods. The "Sales and Human Relations Sizzle Clinic" is welcomed by firms in the community in the interest of greater sales volume, keeping the business in the home towns and more pleasant service to the customer.

Mr. Tribble pointed out that modern competition has made it mandatory that businessmen find a method to meet the strenuous competition of discount houses, outrageous price-cutting policies of many firms and the would-be customer who tells his friends, "I can get it for you wholesale." "The personal approach and an educated management and personnel is the only answer to this threat to local merchants, and will also increase the volume of any business," said Mr. Tribble.

The clinic is being sponsored by the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce. Any business wishing to make reservations for its employees should phone the Chamber of Commerce at once.

New Officers Of GOP Club Assume Duties

A large number of members of the Morgan County Republican Women's Club met in the Terrace Room of the Dunlap hotel on Monday afternoon, Jan. 23. The meeting was presided over by the new 1961 officers including Dortha Lomelino, president; Erma Cruce, vice president; Helen Mayberry, recording secretary; and Wilma Simmons, secretary.

The pledge of allegiance to the flag was led by Gladys Mawson. Alice Wright, membership chairman, began collecting 1961 dues.

Following the business meeting a motion was made and seconded to have a benefit card party in March at the Youth Center.

Mrs. A. W. Applebee delighted the members with a most interesting resume of her travels behind the Iron Curtain. Several other countries were visited within six weeks, made possible because of jet flying.

Helen Stainforth and Opal Bends were in charge of the coffee table, which was decorated with a yellow elephant and red candles. Peggy Jess poured.

The next meeting will be a membership tea on Monday, Feb. 27, in the banquet room of the hotel. At this time all city and county candidates will be invited to attend.

Calvary Church Holds Baptismal Service Sunday

An impressive baptismal service was held Sunday afternoon, Jan. 22, at Central Baptist church for members of the new Calvary Bible church of Jacksonville with the pastor, Rev. George Souza, conducting.

Members of many congregations were present including Rev. and Mrs. Garfield Rogers and the pastor of the host church, Rev. Henry Spencer.

A number of hymns were sung with music accompaniment by Miss Bette DeSilva on the concert grand piano.

The following were baptized: James Rush, Anita Rush, James P. Rush, Marsha Rhodes, Karen Smith, Debra Smith, Frank Willner, Frank Matjevich, Mildred Matjevich, Cheryl Matjevich, Mike Matjevich and Larry Matjevich.

He added that the two-page form is designed to allow taxpayers in any income category the benefits of (1) "head of household" or "surviving spouse" status; (2) sick pay exclusion (3) dividends received credit; (4) estimated tax payment credit; and (5) itemizing deductions for contributions, interest payments, medical expenses, and the like.

Mr. Philpott said taxpayers whose income is under $10,000, consisting of salary or wages reported on Form W-2, and not more than $200 in dividends and interest should use the simple card Form 1040A.

Taxpayers with dividend and interest income in excess of $200, or with any other income such as capital gains, retirement income, rents, royalties, business or professional income, etc., must still file on regular Form 1040.

New Tax Guides
Instruction booklets which are part of the income tax package received each year by Federal income taxpayers are not the only material available for their guidance.

"Three comprehensive tax guides, written in simple and understandable language, also are available to help taxpayers with items not fully covered in the regular instruction booklet," Mr. Philpott said.

The three guides are: "Your Federal Income Tax," 40c; "Tax Guide for Small Business," 40c; "Farmer's Tax Guide," free.

Each booklet is completely indexed by subject, and chapter headings afford quick guidance to answers to nearly all Federal tax problems, he pointed out.

Copies of the guides may be obtained at Internal Revenue offices located in the following named cities: Springfield, Alton, Champaign, Decatur, East St. Louis, Mt. Vernon and Peoria.

Those attending from Jacksonville are Robert L. Brune and Ernest M. Smith, both of the Jacksonville Police Department.

Thirty officers are attending the current course. Two previous courses for Command Officers drew a combined total of 90 officers, ranging in rank from corporal to chief, from 52 state, county and city departments.

Those attending from Jacksonville are Robert L. Brune and Ernest M. Smith, both of the Jacksonville Police Department.

Bond Sales In Morgan For '60 Over Million

Morgan county residents purchased a total of $1,255,337, in series E and H United States Bonds last year, according to Arthur J. French and Frank Osborne Elliott of Jacksonville, general county co-chairmen of the Savings Bonds Committee. This represents 91.5% of quota for the county. The county quota for 1961 has been set at $1,274,320.

Sales in the state of Illinois of both series in 1960 totaled $349,825,216, according to T. Merle Paul, State Director of the U. S. Savings Bonds Division. This was 2.2% less than sales of $357,883,773 in 1959.

90.3% of the state's 1960 quota of $387,200,000 was achieved. Illinois sales of both series for the year represented 8.0% of national sales which were $4,350,000,000.

With the temperature sagging to 7 degrees below zero as it did Wednesday morning, Jacksonville's starling population lined up for gracious living and comfort—around the top of chimneys at homes where gas and oil heat supplies the warmth. Even a few pigeons are learning the trick.

They have been doing it every day, and probably every night, since the cold wave moved in Jan. 19. Not just a few, but thousands of the bothersome birds perch on the warm masonry of the chimneys, chattering in contentment.

Sub-zero bird watchers say that occasionally some of the birds whiff too much of the fumes rising from the chimneys, topple over, and either sleep it off or fall permanently to join their companions again on housetops.

Observers also have noted that the starlings appear to prefer gas and oil to "coal-burners." Few birds are seen on chimneys where coal smoke rises. The birds seem to have an allergy to this sort of thing.

If nothing more, the cold weather has emphasized one fact—starlings, scourge of parks, business districts, and public buildings—know where to go to warm their frosty toes.

STARLINGS SET NEW CUSTOM IN COMFORT

The starling is supposed to have bird-brains—a flutter, nervous, good-for-nothing invader from Europe which has just about taken over the American airwaves.

Zero weather of the past week has proved that starlings know more about modern living than they get credit for—they know where to go to keep warm!
